GAME Article for GALILEO Magazine

What is GAME about?

We can say it is about international workshops, providing opportunities for Mediterranean students to be able to meet and express themselves and learn about different cultures. Even though all of that is true, GAME is really about progression.

Progress as an action is what GAME strives for ever since it was created. Progress of Mediterranean peace and unity, progress of knowledge and exchange of knowledge, progress of problem analysis approaches. To name a few.

Ever since launching in 2011 with a board elected by students to maintain the ambitious student activity (created and maintained by students), GAME has been molding itself and its goals into what is corresponding with the world. In 2017, the theme that has received our attention was mobility and transportation.

This theme could be taken as many ways: engineering and cultural are from the main...etc
